miura event

For many organisations and businesses, communicating a message effectively and efficiently to large, often globally dispersed audiences is vital in today's increasingly fast moving business environment. Traditionally communicating with shareholders, employees, partners and customers has been both time consuming and expensive.

Miura Event reduces the hassle, complexity and costs associated with delivering your message to a large scale audience. Using our advanced online presentation and telephone conferencing services, Miura Event enables customers to deliver important company messages or announcements, such as:

- Investor relations calls
- Press, analyst or customer briefings
- Product launches
- Employee communications

Whether your intended audience is 25 or 2,500, our dedicated team of experienced account managers will ensure you get your message across in the most effective manner. We do this using the most appropriate combination of advanced feature-rich telephone conferencing, online presentation tools and live or on-demand video webinars and webcasts.

So if it's a press briefing for 20 journalists via a Conference Call, or a global product launch to an audience of thousands using a professionally produced Video Webinar, you can be assured your event will run smoothly and efficiently.
